

Senators Vote To Scrap Smith Four Year Term

Governor's Activities in Favor of His Plan for Four-Year Term for Governor Falls to Scrape Every Remaining Bit of Legislature.

Albany, N. Y., March 20 (AP).—Governor Smith's final salvo of radio oratory, special messages to the Legislature and communications to members of the Hughes state reorganization commission in favor of his plan for a four-year term for Governor, with elections in non-presidential years, have failed to swerve the Republican legislative majority from its opposition to the proposal. It became a certainty at the Capitol today.

Republican members of the Senate, at an hour's conference after last night's session, unanimously voted to scrap every remaining bit of legislation embraced in the Governor's program, including the four-year term proposal. Under the Governor's recommendation, contained in a special message read to both houses last night, the four-year term plan would eventually be submitted to the voters in the fall of 1929 in the form of a constitutional amendment.

Republican opposition to the proposal is based on the defeat of their four-year term plan at the polls last year, which they contend was a mandate of the people against any four-year term. The Governor, on the other hand, holds that defeat of the Republican plan merely indicated that the voters do not want state and national elections held at the same time, and he urged favorable consideration of his plan which calls for having them take place at different times.

Although the members of the majority party in the Assembly have taken no formal action on the Governor's proposal, every indication today pointed to the fact that they would follow the lead of their Senate colleagues in moving to scrap the few remaining program bills of the executive. Minority Leader Maurice Bloch of the Assembly, the Governor's spokesman in the lower house, prepared today to move to discharge the rules committee from further consideration of the four-year term measure, but its defeat was assured by a strictly party vote.

Public Reaction Slight

It was indicated at the Republican Senate conference that public reaction to the Governor's radio speech of Saturday night, in which he asked listeners to urge their senators and assemblymen to vote for his bill, was slight, and mostly unfavorable to the proposal. Only two of 28 senators present admitted having received any communications, and both said they found the majority against the Governor's plan. Majority Leader Russell G. Dunmore of the Assembly announced that he received 139 communications, of which only two favored the elections in non-presidential years. To him, however, the Governor directed the comment that "Mr. Dunmore must have spent all day Sunday and all night Sunday night writing to himself."

Two More Measures Killed

Two more of the Governor's program measures went into the discard in the lower house last night by strict party votes. They were the proposals for reapportionment of Senate and Assembly districts on a population basis, and for abolition of the state census. During a brief discussion of the latter, Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier, democrat, New York, mentioned on the floor for the first time the name of Mr. Florence E. S. Knapp, former secretary of state, accused of wasteful administration of 1925 census funds.

"Attorney General Ottinger tried to put Governor Smith into a hole in the Knapp case," asserted the assemblyman, "but the Governor was too smart to be caught napping. The prosecution of Mrs. Knapp has now reached the point where it has become a political football."

No reply was forthcoming from the Republican side.

Further debates on the administration measures were assured in the Senate, where notice was served on the House that motions would be made to discharge committees from further consideration of the bill to abolish the motion picture censorship commission and various minor measures. Defeat of all is assured, as a result of the decision of last night's conference.

Agree on Lincoln Bathhouse

While the Governor and his Republican opponents were at odds on the program measures, agreement was reached last night on an appropriation of $775,000 for rebuilding of the Lincoln bathhouse at Saratoga Springs, destroyed by fire last Thursday. A bill drafted by administration officials was introduced in the upper house by Senator Thomas C. Brown, a member of the Republican majority, and was immediately advanced to third reading without reference to committee, which assured favorable action, probably today. A companion measure was to be introduced in the Assembly today.

Governor Signs Two Bills

Two other bills, passed as the result of an agreement between the Governor and the Legislature, were signed this night by the Governor. One appropriated $1,190,000 for completion of the 32-story state office building now under construction in this city, and the other $340,000 for employment of additional architects, outside of the state service, to assist in preparation of plans for state seatings.

Negro Admits Killing Teacher

Declares His Intention Had Been Robbery But When the Woman Screamed He Shot Her—Captured While Playing Pool in Paterson.

New York, March 20 (AP).—Twelve hours after he is alleged to have shot and killed Mrs. Helen Chevalier Kimball, 25-year-old school teacher, in her apartment in Brooklyn, Martin Luther Miller, negro janitor, was captured in Paterson, N. J., after a battle with police. He confessed, they said, after two hours' questioning.

Captain Joseph Mosley, of the Paterson police, said Miller told them his intention had been robbery, but that when the woman screamed he shot her.

Miller was discharged as janitor at the apartment house a month ago. In his confession to police he said he returned to the building yesterday morning and gained entrance to the Kimball apartment on the pretense that he had been sent to repair a gas stove.

Mrs. Kimball's husband, William Wallace Kimball, also a school teacher, had left home earlier. One bullet passed through Mrs. Kimball's wrist and through the wall of the apartment, narrowly missing a woman in the adjoining room. The other passed through her chest, causing almost instant death.

Suspicion fell on the discharged janitor when Mrs. Walter Smith, in an adjoining apartment house, found Miller letting himself down on the rope in the dumbwaiter shaft. He told her he had been re-employed and was fixing the rope. Police believe he went to the roof of the house where the Kimbells resided and made his way there from the dumbwaiter shaft of the adjoining building.

After a futile search of the negro sections of Brooklyn the New York police learned that Miller had been a frequent visitor in Paterson. Detectives went there and with Paterson police started a search. They found Miller playing pool. He attempted to escape. Detective Sergeant James J. Smith of Paterson grappled him and the negro attempted to draw a revolver tied around his waist with a clothes line. One of the other detectives subdued Miller with a blackjack.

The twenty or more negroes in the poolroom had to be held off by police with drawn guns in taking Miller to jail.

Held Without Bail

Paterson, N. J., March 20 (AP).—Arraigned in police court today, Martin Luther Miller, negro janitor, who was said by police to have confessed shooting and killing Mrs. Helen C. Kimball, Brooklyn school teacher, was held without bail as a fugitive from justice.

Major Harding Also Kills Self

With the Same Revolver His Wife Used to Commit Suicide Two Months Ago—Cited For Gallantry During War.

New York, March 20 (AP).—Major H. Jefferson Harding, war veteran and close friend of President Harding's family, shot and killed himself today with the same revolver that his wife used to commit suicide two months ago. The act was committed in Harding's Fifth avenue office. Friends of Major Harding, who was 32 years old, attributed his suicide to despondency over the loss of his wife, who was believed to have killed herself because of poor health. The major, a member of the army reserve corps, an official of the Hotel Continental in Times Square, and a widely known real estate man, apparently went to his office last night and shot himself early today in the wash room adjoining the office.

He left several notes, one of which dated March 19, and then March 20, the first date being crossed out. One of the notes, addressed to Thomas Shorten, the major's wealthy uncle and executor, read: "Don't give the press any of my documents. I regret what I have done."

Mrs. Harding killed herself in the Hotel Continental leaving a note for her husband explaining her act and adding "thanks for the gun."

Harding was cited five times for gallantry during the war by the American army and twice by the French.

He Was an Intimate Friend of Members of the Harding Family of Ohio, but Was Not Related to the Late President.

Governor Fisher Invited. Harrisburg, Pa., March 20 (AP).—Governor John S. Fisher today received an invitation from Senator James E. Watson, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee to go to Washington and answer such questions as members of the committee may see fit to ask.

Approve Equalization Fee

Washington, March 20 (AP).—By a vote of 12 to 8, the equalization fee principle of the McNary-Haugen relief bill was approved today by the house agriculture committee.

Buildings So as to Speed Public Works Construction

Both houses prepared to speed up their work today in order to avoid a rash of business before adjournment, which has been set for noon Thursday. Plans call for no night sessions.

Search Harding Estate for Bonds

Senate Teapot Dome Committee Will Look Into Records of President Harding's Estate—Governor Smith Mentioned.

Washington, March 20 (AP).—With the estate of the late President Harding now within its focus, the Senate Teapot Dome committee's long and ramifying investigation of the now cancelled oil leases and their subsequent connections is nearing its end to the accompaniment of violent political eruptions on the floor of Congress.

Today was another off day for the inquiry, but it will get under way again tomorrow after three days of subcommittee investigation in Chicago.

Meanwhile, further reaction was looked for following the announcement yesterday by Senator Nye, Republican, North Dakota, chairman of the Teapot Dome committee, that before winding up its searching inquiry into the disposition of the Liberty bond profits of the Continental Trading Company, the committee would look into the records of President Harding's estate.

While he did not believe any of the bonds would be found there, Nye said there would be a "lack of satisfaction if this committee submits a report to the Senate without going into the matter."

"If they are there we are going to tell the world," he added, "if they are not there we are going to tell the world. I don't think they are there."

Agreeing that Nye was "absolutely right," Louis H. Brush, who with Roy Moore, purchased the Marion (Ohio) Star from President Harding, issued a statement last night saying that he and his associates, who are in Washington on another matter, were willing to give the oil committee "any and all details" of the transaction.

"Let us, for the sake of square shooting and in fairness to the memory of President Harding," the statement said, "bring this thing right into the open and go straight through."

The Marion Star figured in the early part of the oil investigation when inquiry was made into sales of the naval oil reserve deals were included in the sale price of the paper. The newspaper's purchasers vigorously denied this at the time and no evidence was uncovered to support the charges.

A committee investigator will be sent to Marion to inspect the Harding estate files. Indications have been given by Senator Nye that he probably will not leave here before early next month.

Harding Signed Order

President Harding signed the executive order by which Albert B. Fall, as secretary of the interior, assumed direction over the Elk Hills and Teapot Dome reserves and later leased them to Edward L. Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair. This was in 1922 and when the government recovered these properties by court action President Coolidge rescinded the order of his predecessor.

As the Harding phase was developing yesterday, the Senate floor was treated to one of the most hectic partisan debates of its career, with more than a dozen senators flinging verbal darts across the aisles at each other—all as a result of the recent disclosures that $160,000 of Sinclair's deal were used in 1923 to help wipe out the Republican party deficit from the 1920 Harding campaign.

Governor Smith Mentioned

Demands were made for the resignation of high administration officials, including Secretary Mellon, and one Senator Robinson, an Indiana Republican, suggested that Governor Smith of New York might be able to "throw considerable light on what's been going on in the last four years."

Robinson sought to show that Sinclair contributed heavily to Smith's gubernatorial campaign in 1920 and afterward became a member of the New York State Racing Commission, holding that post until after the first oil revelations. Chairman Nye said that such was the case, but added he saw no reason for calling the New York Governor, Governor Smith declined to comment when informed in Albany of this development.

Reed Defends Smith

Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, candidate for the presidential nomination, defended Smith against what he termed an unwarranted insinuation. Previously, he had scored Sinclair's $160,000 contribution and declared complete rectification could be had only by the resignation of responsible party leaders, especially Secretary Mellon. He also condemned the silence of President Coolidge.

During the entire three hours of debate, which revolved largely around the attempt of Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, to collect from Sinclair Republicans a "repudiation" and to return to Sinclair, not a voice was raised in defense of the administration or the party's acceptance of the Sinclair donation.

ASKS LEGISLATION FOR FUNDING OF AUSTRIAN DEBTS

Washington, March 20 (AP).—President Coolidge, in a message to Congress today, asked for legislation looking to the funding of Austrian debts to this country on at least as good terms as European creditors of that nation have received. This would allow Austria to float an international loan.

Did Constable Gee Assault Delia Naughton?

This Question Will Be Decided by Jury in Supreme Court—Action Grows Out of Alleged Assault at Plattekill.

The question as to whether Constable Harry Gee of the town of Plattekill assaulted Delia Naughton of Plattekill will be settled by a jury in Supreme court. Mrs. Naughton alleges that on July 12, 1927, he assaulted her, causing her bodily harm and she seeks now to recover money damages.

The action by Mrs. Naughton was brought against John J. Chambers of Montgomery, horse and cow dealer, and Constable Harry Gee, but at the conclusion of plaintiff's case D. W. Ostrander, who appears for the defendants, moved to dismiss the complaint as against Chambers on the ground that there had been no evidence introduced to show that Chambers had taken part in any assault. Judge Staley granted the motion and the question of assault went to the jury only as against Mr. Gee.

The actions grew out of an alleged assault which took place in the Naughton barn where Gee and Chambers had gone to recover a team of horses which Chambers had sold to Uriah Rhoades. According to the testimony of the plaintiff and her daughter Gee took by force from Mrs. Naughton some harness and in so doing threw her over some cow stanchions which were lying on the floor of the uncompleted barn. She alleges she received an injured leg, cut lip, injuries to her hand and several loosened teeth.

All claims of assault were denied by both Gee and Chambers.

Thrown Down and Injured

They came to the Naughton farm where the team of horses was to take possession of the team. Plaintiff alleges that they started to lower the barn in the pasture where the horses were and her daughter prevented them, asking them to wait until her father had come home. The daughter replaced the barn and then the two went to the barn where plaintiff and her daughter say Gee started to take harness from the wall. Mrs. Naughton testified she asked them to wait for her husband to arrive but they refused. Gee took the harness from the wall and she took it away and replaced it on the wall. He again took it down and she started to replace it when he seized the harness and in the struggle she was thrown down and injured.

Defendant and Mr. Chambers both denied they had started to take the harness but claim they were taking halters with which to lead away the horses. They deny that Mrs. Naughton fell down while they were there or was injured in any way. They allege that she used vile language and abused them. They however did not take the harness or the horses or the halters. Mr. Naughton came home and they departed without taking anything.

Roscoe Elsworth appears for plaintiff and D. W. Ostrander appears for the defendant.

Cases Settled

After taking a jury in No. 111, Herbert Burbans against Benjamin L. Hover, the case was settled without the taking of any testimony. Other cases which have been settled are:

Leslie Moore against Isadore Werbalowsky and another, negligence. Cleon B. Murray for plaintiff and Chris J. Flanagan for defendant.

Gizella Kraus and Frank Kraus against Silverview House, Inc., and Emma Goldberg, work, labor and services. C. B. Murray for plaintiff and LeRoy Lounsbury for defendant.

Robert L. Crawford against Jeremiah D. and Della Naughton, action on promissory notes and payment for goods sold and delivered. R. T. Hume for plaintiff and Brinard, Crawford and Elsworth for defendant.

William D. Brinard, Jr., against New York Central R. R. Company, Roscoe V. Elsworth for plaintiff and Amos Van Etten for defendant.

Edward J. Lanigan against Edward H. Hesse, negligence. A. J. Cook for plaintiff and William A. Earl for defendant.

PLEADS GUILTY, GIVEN SUSPENDED SENTENCE

Troy, N. Y., March 20 (AP).—Austen Welch, 22, of Rensselaer, pleaded guilty in county court here today to an indictment charging him with being implicated in the attempt to rob the payroll of the Bayer Aspirin Company in Rensselaer in December, 1924, and was given a suspended sentence of from ten to fifteen years in Clinton prison at Dannemora. John Grant, arrested with Welch, had previously entered a plea of guilty and received a suspended sentence of ten years in prison. It is said the authorities are now searching for "the master mind" in the attempted holdup.

Injuries Fatal to Woman

Buffalo, N. Y., March 20 (AP).—Mrs. Lorent McDonnell, of Lockport, died in a hospital today of injuries suffered here Sunday in an automobile collision in which nine others were slightly hurt. One of the cars was driven by Robert J. Wood of Lockport, and the other by Almond O. Fleet, of Tonawanda.

Mrs. Coonan Died In Fire at Albany

Former Kingston Girl One of Seven Victims of Memorial Hospital Fire On Saturday—Body Will Be Brought to Father's Home on Gage Street.

Mrs. Ruth Gardiner Coonan, wife of Joseph Coonan of 7 Lancaster street, Albany, died Monday as the result of the fire that broke out in the Memorial Hospital in Albany on Saturday. The body was brought to the home of her father, Irvin Gardiner, 109 Gage street, today for funeral services. Mrs. Coonan is survived by her husband and one daughter, Colleen, who is twenty months old; her father, Irvin Gardiner; two sisters, Mrs. Matilda Woinoski and Miss Bertha Gardiner, both of this city; four brothers, Irvin, Clinton, Joseph and Lester Gardiner, all of Kingston; and four aunts, Mrs. Maude Hopper of Clarendon avenue, Mrs. Myron Silkworth of Clifton avenue, Mrs. Clinton F. Gibbs of Farrelly street and Mrs. Henry Fox of Knocknockie street.

The Albany Knickerbocker Press of this morning states: "Pronounced almost fully recovered before the fire, Mrs. Coonan died at 11:30 o'clock Monday morning from the shock of her experience. She became unconscious during the fire and failed to revive. Her husband, Joseph Coonan, was at her bedside when she died, after a constant vigil from the time he was informed of her critical condition."

According to him, Mrs. Coonan had been admitted to the hospital two weeks ago, suffering from peritonitis but had almost fully recovered prior to the fire. She was moved from one ward to another in an attempt to escape the smoke when the fire broke out.

Mr. Coonan had visited his wife Saturday afternoon and had left to take a walk. Frantic with fear when he returned to find smoke belching from the hospital windows and patients being carried out, he said he was turned back by police when he tried to enter the building.

Told after the fire that his wife was safe, he found her unconscious when allowed to see her for a moment, he said. He remained the rest of the night and was told Monday morning there was little chance of recovery.

MUSSOLINI OPTIMISTIC ON ROMAN QUESTION

Rome, March 20 (AP).—Premier Mussolini expressed optimism today concerning an eventual understanding on the "Roman question" involving the relations between the Vatican and the Italian State.

The premier was receiving a committee of the Center party composed of Catholics favorable to the Fascist regime when the question came up. The committee submitted the program of the party and then held a friendly conversation with the premier, among the matters touched upon being the Roman question.

Mussolini stated that the relation between church and state, as everybody knows, has been much ameliorated and indeed is satisfactory on almost every point so that the eventuality of a possible understanding between the two powers, despite the many difficulties inherent upon such a momentous arrangement, can be looked upon with "virile optimism."

MRS. WALKER BREAKS RIGHT ARM, NEAR ELBOW

Mrs. Lena Walker of 133 Highland avenue broke her right arm near the elbow Monday when she fell in Mrs. Salzmann's Bakery, 101 Abess street, where she is employed. An X-ray was taken at the City of Kingston Hospital where the arm was set by Dr. F. A. Johnston. Mrs. Walker was later removed to her home where she probably will be confined for some time owing to the seriousness of the break. Her condition today is as good as can be expected. She suffered considerable pain during the night. As the break is near the elbow of her right arm, it will probably take a long time for the break to heal. Just what caused Mrs. Walker to fall could not be learned.

CENSUS BUREAU GIVES OUT 1927 COTTON CROP

Washington, March 20 (AP).—The 1927 cotton crop was placed today by the census bureau at 12,950,473 equivalent 500 pound bales, compared with 17,377,374 bales in 1926 and 16,192,479 in 1925.

The size of the crop was determined by the final ginning canvass of the year. The department of agriculture estimated the crop at 12,789,000 bales in its final estimate last December.

The total crop comprised 12,777,565 running bales, including 559,178 round bales counted as half bales, compared with 17,555,079 bales including 443,784 round bales for 1926 and 16,122,516 bales including 351,121 round bales for 1925.

Take Off For Ford Airport

Miller Field, N. Y., March 20 (AP).—Floyd Bennett and Bernt Balchen, pilots in Commander Richard E. Byrd's projected Antarctic expedition, took off today for the Ford airport in Detroit. They will test there in a series of flights, a three motored Ford plane for use on the polar trip.

School Money for Ulster County Totals $417,803

City of Kingston Will Receive $152,035.14—County Treasurer Brink Receives First Payment of $182,344.25—Apportionment to the Various Towns.

The first payment of school money has been received by County Treasurer J. Brink and has been apportioned off to the various towns. The monies will be given to the supervisors who will turn it over to the school collectors and distributed according to the ratio fixed by the superintendents of the county school districts. The total of the school money as fixed by the state for Ulster county is as follows, the first column being the totals which figure $417,803.50, and the second column being the amount of first payment totaling $182,344.25.

Washington, March 20 (AP).—Treasury receipts from the March 15 income tax payments, which are being watched closely by Congress and the administration, show that at the close of business March 17, the government had obtained payments of $215,550,008.07, while on the same date last year the total was $197,690,398.51.

If this proportion should carry through for the entire collections of 1925, the treasury would be likely to have about $100,000,000 or more above its estimates. On this showing hinges the fight in Congress over tax revision, but Secretary Mellon is expected to await a fuller showing before announcing his position on this issue.

The March 15 payments usually comprise one-fourth of the total due on 1927 income, although many taxpayers select that date for making payment in full and thus the quarter is by far the most prolific in increasing government receipts.

The treasury statement of March 17 included all payments received and checked during the first three full business days after the installment fell due, and a factor of increasing efficiency in collectors' offices, or of increased familiarity with income tax requirement on the part of taxpayers, might be sufficient to bring about the apparent increase indicated while at the end of the month the government might find itself with less cash than it obtained last year in the same period.

WADSWORTH NAMED ON PRISON BOARD

Albany, N. Y., March 20 (AP).—Appointment of George R. Wadsworth of New York as second assistant commissioner of correction in charge of prison industries and production was announced today by Dr. Raymond F. C. Kiehl, state commissioner of correction. The position was in the competitive Civil Service class.

For the past four years, Mr. Wadsworth has been director of the bureau of planning and operating research in the division of architecture, a post which allowed him considerable determination in the planning program for state institutions now in process of construction.

The new assistant commissioner was born in Keene, N. H., graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and has been employed by the New York Central Railroad, J. G. White and Company of New York city, construction engineers; the Metropolitan Improvement Commission of Massachusetts, and the Peerless Motor Car Company. During the World War he was a major in the United States air corps.

SECOND ARMY PLANE SETS OUT FOR DETOUR

Mt. Clemens, Mich., March 20 (AP).—A second army transport plane took off from Selfridge Field today for Sault Ste. Marie, to carry mail and food supplies to the snowbound village of Detour in the upper Michigan peninsula.

The plane, flown here yesterday from Fort Riley, Kansas, by order of the war department, is to relieve another plane sent there last week from Chanute Field, Illinois, and which was disabled in an attempted take-off Saturday after making two successful flights to the isolated village, from Sault Ste. Marie.

Although the food shortage at Detour, which for a time threatened the 600 villagers, was temporarily relieved last week by the first relief plane and a dog team, it was deemed advisable to send a second plane to continue distribution of mail and to carry additional provisions if they are needed before state snow plows break roads through the huge snow drifts to Detour and half a dozen other communities still snowbound.

FRANK FORMAN INVESTS IN SAUGERTIES REAL ESTATE

A real estate deal of considerable importance has just been consummated, says the Saugerties Post, whereby William Becker has sold his business property on Main street, Saugerties, to Frank Forman, owner of the Up-to-Date Coat and Suit Company of Kingston. The property sold embraces the two stores now occupied by Village Clerk C. H. Vedder and Schneider's meat market and also the apartments overhead. It is Forman's intention to raze the building next fall and have erected on the site a modern business block.

Eight Hospital Inmates Dead

MIGRATING BIRDS TRAVEL 20,000 MILES IN A YEAR

Sanderling, Champion Globe Trotter of Birdland, Goes From Pole to Pole.

Washington.—The champion globe trotter of birdland is the sanderling, which spends the summer in the shade of the North pole and then goes to the Antarctic for the winter. It travels 20,000 miles a year.

This information is contained in a bulletin issued by the Smithsonian institution of Washington announcing a new volume on bird life written by Arthur Cleveland Bent.

"The annual migrations of some of the shore birds from their nests in the Arctic to their winter homes in southernmost South America and back form one of the wonders of bird life in the New world," says the bulletin.
"The sanderling, perhaps champion globe trotter among birds, starts north from the Antarctic in March or April, passes through New England in May and early June, and arrives at its nesting site in northeastern Greenland as early as May 23. After the breeding season is over the adults are ready to start back as early as July, but the young birds pass through New England in the latter part of August and are most abundant in September and October. The arrivals south of the equator stretch from August to November.

"What is even more amazing than these distances is the age at which the young of some species make the southern flight. Speaking of the pectoral sandpiper, Mr. Bent quotes one authority to the effect that 'when they are but thirty minutes' old their apparently slight legs carry them over the ground with great rapidity. In three weeks they are a-wing and six weeks later they are off on their long journey to the South, crossing mighty mountain-ranges and great stretches of sea."

Shows No Pain or Loss of Blood When Stabbed

Vienna.—Hundreds of physicians gathered at headquarters of the Austrian Society for Psychic Research and watched in amazement as Paul Diebel, thirty-year-old Silesian miner, had daggers, nails and knives thrust into his body without evincing indication of pain or producing a flow of blood.

The spectators included many women, some of whom leaned forward with opera glasses to catch a better view of the miner as he was pierced.
Others fainted at the sight.

This was the first time a group of qualified scientific men had witnessed his astounding exhibition. They pronounced it genuine.

Witnesses said that Diebel thrust a dagger through his forearm so that the instrument protruded on the other side. He showed his arm around the room before he withdrew the dagger.
Not once did he wince and he did not shed a drop of blood.

The miner next "by concentration of will power" caused drops of blood to trickle through the wall of his stomach, following with expulsion of blood from the knee.

His most dramatic act was to make a large cross in blood appear on his back, the blood being forced to the surface apparently by uncanny exercise of will power.

Diebel concluded his exhibition by allowing one of the spectators to shoot a large metal bolt into his chest by means of a catapult. He then calmly withdrew the missile with no show of pain and permitted physicians to examine the bloodless wound produced.

Stowaway Cat Returns With German Brood

Norfolk, Va.—Missing for six weeks,
"Miss Betty," a black cat that "knows where she lives better than some folks," arrived from Germany. She came in on the steamship Holstein and came ashore at the army base.

When "Miss Betty" disappeared she was alone. When she walked ashore from the Holstein she had five kittens with her.

Capt. Sam Larsen stood spellbound, watching "Miss Betty" and her family stroll along the dock at the army base.

"Where have you been?" Captain Larsen asked the cat.

"Miss Betty" looked Captain Larsen in the eye and gave him a few "meows." Then, with her brood behind her, she strutted into a warehouse, where she formerly made her home.

Well, Here It Is!

"Perpetual Motion"
Belgrade.—Claims to have invented a perpetual-motion machine has been put forth in Belgrade by a young Serb, Asim Hajdarovitch.

A Bosnian Mohammedan, by religion, he is entirely without education, and confesses a total ignorance of physics.

Having invented his perpetual motion machine, his chief problem now is how to stop the con-traption once it has been started, he says.

The machine comprises a number of wheels, so related that when the first wheel is started the others gradually assume a terrible speed so that various devices are necessary to stop them.

Events Around The Empire State

(By the Associated Press.)

Oswego.—The summer course for school nurses formerly held at the New York State Normal School here will be given this year at the New York State College for Teachers at Buffalo, because of better facilities available there, the Department of Education has announced.

Saranac Lake.—Six school children of this section had a narrow escape from serious injury when the automobile in which they were riding skidded and overturned on an ice-covered hill at Jay, near here. The children and Sidney Ferris, who was driving, escaped with bruises.

Crown Point Center.—Mrs. R. E.
Bradford, of this place, pushed aside the snow covering her pansy bed a few days ago and discovered several of the plants in bloom. An early fall of snow last autumn is believed to have kept the frost from the plants.

Saranac Lake.—Four men from Pine Grove sawed 26 cords of four-foot hardwood and one cord of stubs in seven and a half hours a few days ago, thereby establishing what is believed to be a record for this section of the Adirondacks. The wood was frozen together and had to be knocked apart, while that lying on the ground had to be chopped out of the ice.

South Ticonderoga.—Several horse shoe nails and a quantity of wire were found in the stomach of a cow which died here a few days ago.
Another nail was imbedded in the animal's heart. The cow was the property of Burt Huntley.

Rochester.—One of Mercury's legs has been weakened by rust and a steepjack will make repairs. Mercury, in this case, is the statue atop City Hall Annex in Court street.

Geneva.—Michael Abraham, of this city, is on his way to his native Syria to claim a promised bride he has never seen. The bride-to-be is a daughter of a life-long friend.

Rochester.—A young woman, walking along a downtown street here a few days ago, was knocked unconscious by an icicle which fell from a window and struck her on the head.

Magnet Removes Splinters

Fragments of steel lodged in workers' eyes are being removed by a powerful magnet in a London hospital.
The large "ring magnet" is placed around the sufferer's face, and the metallic splinter is drawn to an accessible place where it may be easily extracted.

FIFTY EXTRA TICKETS FOR LEGION DINNER

The 200 tickets for the dinner in honor of Edward E. Spafford, national commander of the American Legion, have been sold. On account of the great demand for tickets to this dinner, Manager Siegrist of the Governor Clinton, has arranged to expand the seating capacity to 250 people. Fifty more tickets have been ordered and these will be placed on sale tonight at the American Legion Memorial Building. Those desiring tickets should get their orders in early as these 50 extra tickets are not expected to last long.

Spafford Worked Hard for Legion

National Commander Edward E. Spafford, who is to be the guest of Kingston Post, American Legion, at a dinner in the Governor Clinton Hotel on Thursday, March 22, has made a record since the war, replete with successful American Legion Service. He served in the department of New York state and as chairman of the Legion's national naval affairs committee. He has been connected with many projects for the benefit of ex-service men. It is expected that all veterans of the World War, who can, will hear him speak when he visits Kingston. He is an interesting talker and has proved himself very convincing in debates for the advancement of veterans. At the time of his lecture he was preparing for the practice of law in the firm of Fischer and Strachan, New York city.

Soon after the war, National Commander Galbraith felt that the Legion should take a definite stand on maritime affairs, and he organized the committee, naming Spafford as chairman. Each successive national commander re-appointed Spafford until 1923 when he was elected commander of the Department of New York.

To his credit belongs much of the successful opposition to the ultra-pacifists who were actively trying to scrap the navy. Col. Henry Breckinridge, assistant secretary of war under President Wilson, stated that had it not been for the work of The American Legion, the navy of the United States would have been scrapped in 1922. Spafford led the Legion in this defense.

As state commander, Spafford visited every county in New York. He took office when a referendum was before the people to determine whether an amendment to the constitution should be passed in order that a bonus might be given to those who had served their country. Spafford prepared arguments and placed them in the hands of every Legionnaire. The amendment was passed.

His ability in the management of big issues is illustrated in the adjusted compensation fight he conducted, when the secretary of the treasury had a favorite scheme for reducing taxes, and it was stated officially that the adjusted compensation could not be passed and taxes also reduced.

On January 5, 1924, at the National Republican Club in New York city, Spafford debated U. S. Senator Borah and the undersecretary of the treasury who represented Secretary Mellon, and the president of the Anti-Bonus League. The debate was broadcast. Spafford showed that he could handle the economics of tax reduction as well as the justice of the adjusted compensation. Many persons reversed their opinion after that meeting.

Following the program delicious refreshments were served, the handsomely appointed table being decorated with ferns and other decorations suitable to St. Patrick's Day.

GOVERNOR PLEADED WITH DAUGHTER'S VISIT TO POPE

Albany, N. Y., March 20 (P).—Governor Smith expressed pleasure when informed by the Associated Press today that his daughter, Emily and her husband, Superintendent John A. Warner of the state police, had been given an audience by Pope Pius.

"Fine," the Governor said. "They've seen more than I have in my 54 years. The world is certainly getting smaller and smaller every year. Why, it wasn't until last summer that I paid my first visit to Canada."

"You expect to see quite a lot of this country during the coming summer, don't you, Governor?" asked one of the newspapermen.

"I don't know, I haven't entered the amateur golf tournament yet," he replied, with a laugh.

Stone Ridge P. T. A. Meeting.

The Stone Ridge Parent-Teacher Association held their regular monthly meeting on the afternoon of March 16. ## RELIEVE COUGHS WITH THOXINE

Little Red Car Had Meaning All Its Own to Him

Prospective Purchaser of a Used Car Disappeared in Cloud of Mud as It Approached His Domicile—Why the Used Car Sale was Not Consummated.

Somewhere in Kingston there is an automobile salesman who is trying to get in touch with a prospect. The last view the salesman had of the prospect was a cloud of mud kicked up by the wheels of a disappearing automobile when the salesman drove in view of the domicile of the prospect, and thereby hangs a tale.

The other day a prospective customer interviewed the automobile salesman with reference to purchasing a used car. He said he desired a car that would prove good value for the money, and was assured by the salesman that he had just the car the prospect was seeking and that he would drive the car out the following day and give the prospect a demonstration. The prospect resides on a farm "somewhere in Ulster county" and some distance from Kingston.

And speaking of used cars, it might be well to here set forth the fact that the prohibition enforcement bureau now located in this city has a force of men who are using automobiles in their trips about the county. These cars are said to be ones that had been seized in "wet" raids in other days. These cars are of various hues and colors and one especially nifty car is painted a bright red.

But to get back to the automobile salesman and his prospect. The day dawned bright and clear and the salesman at the wheel of the used car drove out into the country toward the farm of the prospect. While still some distance from the farm he noticed considerable excitement and suddenly a car wheeled out of the farm driveway at terrific speed and headed in the opposite direction from that of the salesman in his used car.

Owing to the cloud of mud kicked up by the car and the distance it was away the salesman was unable to recognize who was driving. Still proceeding at a goodly rate of speed the salesman turned into the farm driveway and drove up to the barn where he expected to find his prospect.

No one was in the barn and there was not a soul to be seen about the premises.

"Well," observed the salesman to himself, "that's funny; perhaps I'd better stop at the house."

He did so and knocked at the front door. After a few minutes the door was opened on a crack and a woman glanced out and said sharply: "Well!"

"I am Mr. Blank from the auto sales firm of Blank & Blank," explained the salesman brightly, "and I had a date with your husband who wanted to produce a used car."

"Huh," said the woman doubtfully. The salesman continued his explanation and closed by saying "And this is the car I expect to sell to your husband," and he pointed to the car he had driven out in.

Evidently satisfied with the salesman's explanation the woman became voluble and said: "I'll tell you how it is. My husband received a tip that the enforcement agents were going to pay us a visit and you know that they travel in a red car, and when he saw your red car approaching he naturally thought it was the agents on the way here."

"Yes," said the salesman as the woman paused for breath.

"Yes," she continued, "and that was him you saw drive away in a car as you were approaching."

The salesman's lips puckered and he whistled softly.

"And all the liquor that he's got in the world," continued the woman, "is with my husband in that car."

Moral—Do not use a red car when visiting men engaged in certain lines of business.

Ernst Recaptured By State Troopers

Man Who Escaped From Court House Later Picked Up Along Road Headed Toward Highland—Other Prisoners Escaped Through Same Window.

John Ernst, who escaped from custody of State Troopers Monday at the court house by jumping through a toilet window while awaiting transfer to Middletown State Hospital where he had been committed by Doctors O'Leary and Loughran, was recaptured by the Troopers later in the day as he was walking along the road, headed toward Highland. Ernst had asked permission to go to a toilet on the lower floor of the court house and while there made a break for freedom. The Trooper saw him disappear and gave chase but Ernst, who is a large and powerful man, quickly outdistanced his pursuer. The roads were quickly covered and shortly before 4 o'clock Ernst was recaptured and returned to the court house where he was held pending transfer to Middletown. Ernst comes from the town of New Paltz.

The same window through which Ernst made his break has been the means of several other prisoners gaining temporary freedom. Not long ago a prisoner from Napanoch escaped from one of the institution guards through the same window but was recaptured after a short chase.

SCHOOLS AND CRITICS.

A school superintendent was invited to a banquet. Beside him at the table sat a banker. "So?" said the banker. "You're one of those fellows that's squandering the taxpayers' money, eh?" Out of the conversation that followed grew the idea for a conference between school authorities and the business men critics of the public schools. It is the superintendent's plan to have an initial meeting this spring at which educators and critics will state their views fully, freely and frankly. During the summer, representatives from each group will study the problem of what public education should provide and how much it should cost.

In the fall, the two groups will meet again, present the results of their study, and try to agree on what kind of education should be provided out of tax money. It's a good idea, but it is likely to take more than a summer's investigation to work it out to a final, satisfactory conclusion. Yet two fine things should be accomplished. The critics will have to get down to concrete statements instead of vague complaints against frills in general. And the school men will have to arrange in closer form a summary of exactly what they are teaching and precisely how much it costs and what it accomplishes. Much may be learned from such a show-down, or showing-up, of facts and figures.

COST OF GOVERNMENT.

Governor Christlanson of Minnesota gives some disheartening figures on the rising expenses of government in this country. From 1890 to 1926, he says, public expenses, federal, state and local, grew from $875,000,000 a year to $8,756,000,000. That means increasing about nine times, or 900 per cent, in 36 years.

The mere number of dollars means less than the proportion of income or the time required to earn it. In those modest days of 1890, the average citizen paid seven per cent of his income for government. In 1926 he was paying 12½ per cent. Probably it is 13 per cent now. We work 49 days a year just to pay our various kinds of taxes. No wonder—we support 2,700,000 officials and 700,000 pensioners. State expenses have trebled since 1913 and doubled since 1919.

Possibly we're getting full value for all of this outlay. But some-times doubts come into the taxpayers' mind. Or is this putting it too mildly? Public salaries are not large, and most of the money goes for salaries. But haven't we far too many public employees? And aren't we engaging in an unnecessary amount of governmental activities? Some of this is doubtless mere luxury and laziness.

Shouldn't we economize politically, hiring less public work done and doing more, for ourselves, through private effort? It might cost us just as much that way, but at least we'd have lower tax bills, and couldn't blame it all on "the government" or "the politicians."

SLUMP IN BOOTLEGGING.

These seem to be dull times for bootleggers, anyway. In many places their business is shot to pieces. A sad tale comes from a populous federal district of the middle west, which used to be flooded with contraband liquor. Three years ago, says a deputy U. S. marshal, the federal storeroom where seized liquor is kept usually held about 1,000 cases and 25 barrels or more of whiskey. Today he doubts whether more than 50 cases can be found in government custody in the whole district, covering a quarter of the state. Raiders used to bring liquor in by the truckload. Now they bring in two or three pitiful plato, seized from hangovers who serve customers from pocket-flasks. The "big-time" liquor traffic is passing, says the deputy. The dealers have less liquor because they can't get it so easily any more, and because they know its possession is dangerous. Punish, too, because there isn't so much demand for it.

While the business turn-over has shrunk, the bootleggers' expenses have risen. They have to pay more and more, per gallon handled, for storage, sale and protection. They can't have lost heart, too. For surely they would hire expensive lawyers to fight their cases. Now they come into court like sheep and plead guilty. With their loss of prosperity and dignity, professional honor vanishes. They turn to complaining against each other. Possibly this is too dark a picture—for the country immediately concerned. Possibly it is not really typical of the country generally.

A TEST FOR APPENDICITIS.

I often speak of appendicitis and of the advisability of an early operation where the symptoms are definite. That the number of deaths where operations are done immediately is easily less than one in a hundred, whereas if delayed for a few days, the death rate becomes much greater.

Yet the family physician quite naturally does not want to rush a patient into the expense of an operation if he can avoid it.

So by carefully watching the patient's pulse, temperature, noting the hardness or softness of the abdominal walls, and avoiding the use of purgatives, he sometimes delays matters, hoping to avoid the operation, yet aware all the time that "delays are dangerous."

Now an attack of intestinal colic, of gas pressure, can often be mistaken for something more serious.

Just which cases are serious and which are not, can now be determined to a great extent by a simple test suggested by Dr. C. L. G. Chapman of London.

He calls it the "rising" test. He uses it in borderline cases which consist chiefly of appendicitis, in which one might reasonably be persuaded to put off operation, perhaps until the next day or so. The "rising" test consists in the patient putting both hands down by the side of the thighs, and then raising himself in bed by means of the abdominal muscles. This produces pain immediately, and the patient fails to raise himself, or complains of pain in doing so. This test is a sign of an acute condition, not always appendicitis, but always demanding immediate attention.

You will remember that this exercise of sitting up from the lying down position is one that has been used for years in developing the abdominal muscles.

As you know the abdominal wall, which is made up of these muscles, usually gets stiff and boardlike, where there is any acute serious trouble going on inside the abdomen. This rising test simply puts a "strain" on these muscles, which are already tense in their efforts to wall off the trouble, and this strain causes the pain.

So if in doubt about an abdominal condition, try out this rising test, and if pain ensues then consult your doctor at once.

You must not forget the danger of delay in acute abdominal conditions.

HOW

WORLD'S FOOD SUPPLY

IS MADE BY PLANTS—

One of the most important of natural processes, the secret of which has hitherto escaped the scientists, may be explained by recent experiments of Prof. E. C. Baly of the University of Liverpool, reported to the Royal Society of London, says Dr. E. L. Free, in his Week's Science (New York). This is photosynthesis, the way in which the leaves of plants manufacture all the food in the world. He writes:

"From the air these green leaves absorb a gas called carbon dioxide, the same gas that makes the bubbles in soda water. Traces of this gas are always present in the open air. The plant roots absorb water, which is then drawn up into the leaves. The leaves also absorb sunlight. These three things, sunlight, water and carbon dioxide gas, the leaves use to manufacture a variety of sugar which is raw material of plant growth as well as the material for producing the starch that plants like wheat store in the grain or that plants like the potato store in their tubers. All the animals that eat plants, as well as human beings who eat both these animals and the original plant foods, really get their living from the work of the green leaves. In spite of years of effort, scientists have never been able to duplicate this important process artificially. The living plant has always been needed to do the trick. Professor Baly himself has been at work for years, trying, always unsuccessfully, to duplicate the action. At last he believes that he has succeeded. A fine powder of the carbonate of nickel or of cobalt is suspended in water containing the carbon dioxide gas and is exposed to sunlight. Sugar is produced. This is probably not exactly the same way in which the living plant does the same trick, but it may serve, Professor Baly believes, as a starting point from which to complete the full discovery of the plant's secret."—Literary Digest.

How Some Species of ## Fish Release Poison

There are poisonous fish as well as poisonous reptiles, but the poison is not communicated by biting. On the contrary, the fish puncture their victims with spines. A study of the dorsal fin spine of the spiny dogfish reveals a groove containing a glandular structure which discharges secretion through a longitudinal pit. Further investigation discloses the presence of a more complex gland on the dorsal fin spines of the Port Jackson shark. The examination of the fossil fin spines of this family of fishes reveals the existence of a rough surface with either medium or lateral glandular structures. The surface of the spine is otherwise covered with enamel which shows bosses or ridges running in a longitudinal direction. The venom of the weaver produces intense and agonizing pain.

How a Drop Falls

To watch a drop of water when it falls is to attempt to penetrate the secret of an obscure science, the law which governs moving fluids. The experiment best showing the action of a falling drop may be made by letting a drop of milk fall into black coffee. When the drop falls a crater forms around it and little drops are projected from the edge of the crater. After it has increased in size and in thickness the crater lowers and widens its rolling brim, while from the impact a liquid sphere, enveloped by the initial drop, collects at the top of the column. Then the column falls and disappears in the center of a circular ripple.

How to Measure Star Heat

Heat from the stars can be measured and one of the instruments used to do it contains 87 wings in the shape of a tiny "vane" suspended from quartz fibers in a small mirror. When a ray of starlight, passing through a prism, is trained on the blackened wings, the vane turns the fiber and the amount of the turn is registered by the mirror that reflects another beam of light along a calibrated arc.

How Cotton Cloth Is Made

Cotton cloth is made by removing the hairs from the seeds of the cotton plant, twisting these hairs into yarn, weaving the yarns into a fabric, and applying a stiffening mixture and ironing between large rollers. The nature of the fibers used and every one of the manufacturing processes affect the value of the fabric and should be considered when a cotton cloth is being purchased.

How to Test Metals

Whether a piece of jewelry is white gold or platinum may be determined by making a test for specific gravity. White gold would have a specific gravity of less than 19, and platinum would be about 21.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

WHAT SMARTER OR MORE PRACTICAL THAN THE TWEED SUIT?—IN TANS AND BROWNS OR IN GRAY TONES, IT IS AN IDEAL SPRING CHOICE.

Paris.—The woman who needs practical clothes—and who of us does not?—will rejoice in the opportunity the new mode affords to wear tweed. Tweeds are by no means confined to sports wear. A tweed suit for town is an excellent selection, and one should, to follow the strict letter of the law, have it in shades of beige and brown or in gray. It may be completed by a slip-on sweater, which sounds as though it should be relegated to sports, but on the contrary is not.

Although most collections acknowledge the chic and comfort of a full-length tweed coat, tweeds are preferred for the short jacketed suit, which may or may not be belted, or leather, belted. The skirt of the tweed suit must have pleats either at front or side, or be circular at either of these places or at the back.

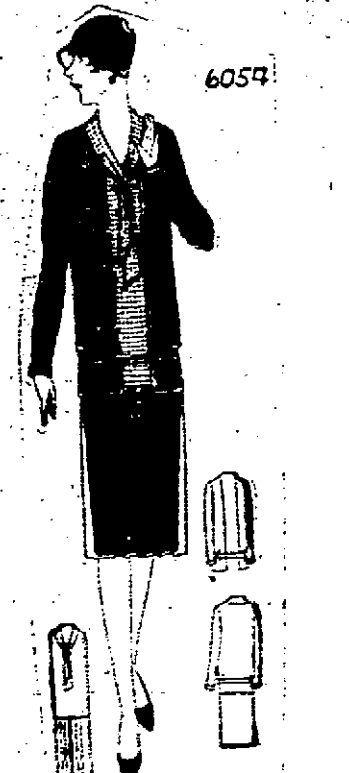

Tan and Black Finely Checked Imported Tweed Is Adopted for Both One-Piece Dress and Coat in This Tailored Ensemble.

It is natural that creative minds, in search of something new, should have hit upon the idea of introducing fullness at the back, since for a season or more we have had front and side fullness. Straight front and circular backs may not be as general as the other way about, but they are among the newer ideas and have such sponsors as Bresson and Lanvin.

It seems a curious idea to scallop sports skirts, or to gather them, but one is the result of a desire for uneven hemlines, and the other is an attempt to introduce the new necessary fullness by other methods than pleats and gores. One finds gathers and one finds shirring in rather unexpected ways this season.

Famous Americans Ready in Mind of German Writer

Ford, Edison, Rockefeller, Sr. and Lindbergh: These men, leaders in their respective fields of endeavor, are outstanding Americans, according to Emil Ludwig, German writer and biographer of the world's great personages.

Napoleon, Bismarck, Kaiser Wilhelm are some of the world figures who have been portrayed by the pen of this internationally known author, who recently ended his tour of the United States.

To portray an age, it is necessary to know its great men, believes Ludwig, who left a German business office some years ago to retire to a cabin in the woods for the purpose of creating his own particular brand of biography.

His books are like pages of his keen perceptive powers and character analysis that Ludwig pictures his great men.

Few will disagree with him in his four American selections.

Rockefeller, for his pioneering genius in organization; Ford, as the epitome of efficiency in a mass production period in industry; Edison, the marvel of science and invention; and Lindbergh, the romantic hero of the air, first to make clear to all the world that air travel is now an accepted means of world transport.

It may even be that "Lindbergh, the last choice practically unknown a year ago, a hundred years from now will be accepted as the one contribution of our generation to civilization.

WILKINS COMPLETES FLIGHT TO POINT BARROW

Seward, Alaska, March 20 (AP).—Exploration of the Arctic "blind spot" by Captain George H. Wilkins was a step nearer today after completion of his flight from Fairbanks to Point Barrow, Alaska, first stop on a contemplated flight to Spitzbergen, on the other side of the North Pole from Harrow.

Almost continuous radio communication kept the United States Signal Corps here in touch with Wilkins throughout his hazardous flight over 500 miles of Arctic waste between Fairbanks and Barrow yesterday. With Lieutenant Carl Ben Nelson handling the plane's controls, Wilkins operated the short wave radio. The message described the trip over the much hatched mountain range and over the barren tundra. Leaving Fairbanks at 11:25 a. m., the fliers were over the Endicott range at an altitude of 12,000 feet about 2 o'clock. Wilkins suggested that it was "a bit cold up here" as they passed over the range.

A half hour later they were over the tundra and into the usual fog at that altitude. At 4:10 they passed through a "bad storm" and ten minutes later sighted Point Barrow.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

New York—Only two responses have been made to an appeal by M. L. Meachen for $10,000 to support a young author of his acquaintance who wishes to write a book dealing with the history of human thought in a certain field. Those two replies are from "ants".

London—The secret of George Bernard Shaw's success with women characters in his plays is out. It is not due to personal experience. He's been far too busy for that. The reason is that he assumed that woman was almost exactly like a man. He made the revelation in a lecture on Ibsen.

New York—Robert Reid, who lost the use of his right arm through paralysis a year ago and taught himself to paint with his left, is among the exhibitors at the annual exhibition of the national academy of design.

New York—Miss Doris Spiegel, who has won a $2,500 Guggenheim fellowship for the study of art abroad, sketches as often as she can when taking a ride in the subway because she finds all types there.

Chicago—Having trailed his wife 400 miles in a taxi at a cost of $200, Walter J. Stein, investment banker, has obtained a divorce.

New York—And the end is not yet. Robert E. Wilson, expert witness, has been on the stand nine days in a suit over an oil cracking patent. He has answered 197 questions in direct testimony and 2,644 in cross examination.

Seattle—Mayor Bertha K. Landes received $15,000 salary for being mayor of Seattle two years. Her unsuccessful campaign for re-election cost her $13,853.

New York—For energy, fidelity and service for many years Miss May Moon has been willed $50,000 in addition to radium, objects of art and other articles in the estate of Dr. Robert Abbe, specialist in cancer.

Middletown, Conn.—Debaters at Wesleyan are to have a training table. The purpose is hardly the same as for football players. It is to afford opportunity for discussion of debating topics twice a day.

New York—"Slim" Bonge of Niobrara, Neb., six foot seven one-half inch cowpuncher, aviator, theatre usher and artist, has been roped by a chubby little fellow. He is to be married to Eunice Lyle Swetman, of Biloxi, Miss., who is on the stage and has been the model for his pictures. She is confident Archibald M. Bonge will be a great artist some-day. He is now guiding movie patrons to their seats in order to earn money to study. Recently he sold a painting for $1,000.

Health for Childhood Days

Eyes aglow, cheeks ruddy with health, laughing voices ringing with happiness — isn't that the childhood you want, for your children? Active, growing children need wholesome food to form sturdy bones — appetizing food to tempt palates which become finicky after the excitement of romping and playing. That is why, for good health, milk and the other foods so essential in the children's diet must be properly refrigerated.

Kept in the constantly cold, dry atmosphere provided by Frigidaire foods acquire a fresher, zestful flavor. Grapefruit and oranges have that fresh-from-the-grove taste; new flavors are brought out in milk, and the freshness of meat is retained. There is no food in which improvement does not take place after having been kept in Frigidaire. Frigidaire may be installed for $195.

Cleveland Has Many Youngsters

Trying Out In Camp Who Are Sure To Play In Years To Come—New Manager and New Owners Looking Far Ahead.

New Orleans, March 20 (AP).—Cleveland has the current edition of the Indians of the American League in training and with it the classes of 1931 and 1932. There are 47 players in camp, ranging from the 18 year old Mel Harder to the 35 year old Grover Hartley.

Cleveland, with a new manager and new owners, is looking far ahead. Some of the two score players now in Cleveland uniforms will not wear this livery during the season, but they are sure to don the colors again in years to come.

One of the minor league graduates has already made good. Eddie Morgan, former Tulane baseball, football and basketball star, who was a Southern Association sensation with the New Orleans Pelicans last season, has been given Tris Speaker's old place, center field. Morgan, fast and a hard hitter, has established himself as one of the most promising players advancing from the minors to the majors this year. Charlie Jamieson will again play left field and lead off, and Homer Summa, who knows his right field wall in Cleveland, will try to outguess that barrier through another season. Gerken and Langford, who have been up before, promise to remain as utility outfielders. Gill, a ranky young chap, and Speer, just as young and almost as ranky, will be heard from later.

The veteran George Burns will play first base and hit doubles. Lew Fonseca will start at second base, and consistent Joe Sewell at short. Johnny Hodapp will play third. Manager Peckinpaugh will act as an infield substitute as will his former team-mate, Aaron Ward. Carl Lind, another Tulane alumnus, has a chance to join Morgan in rooting for the green. The place is all cluttered up with young fellows who probably will make their mark on future baseball pages. Jonah Goldman, Syracuse University shortstop, and Ed Montague, third baseman from New Haven, have shown flashes which will win them places on the farm and a return ticket to Cleveland in the autumn. Fred Spurgeon, injured second baseman, will not be able to help the Indians until mid-season.

Luke Sewell will carry the bulk of the catching burden with Myatt and Hartley to help him. If a fourth catcher is retained, Martin Autrey, who has been with the Indians two years, may have to contest with Dick Stahlman, a giant, who caught for Wilkes-Barre last season.

Around Willis Hudlin, the club's outstanding pitcher at 21, the pitching hopes are built. He was the Indians' leading workman in 1927 and has rounded into good spring training form. If George Uhle and Emil Levens have recovered from their arm troubles of last year, the club should get good pitching for the season.

Ike Schaute, Garland Buckeye, Walter Miller, Walter Brown and George Grant are returning to the mound. Billy Byrne, a smart lefthander who pitched for Greenville in the South Atlantic Association, has an excellent chance to become a relief pitcher with the Indians.

Glynn Bolton, a huge southpaw, may have to be disposed of before the stocky Byrne can get a job, and Colliard, late of New Orleans, will wear watching.

Great Interest In Main Bout

The Konchina vs. Pultz fracas is staged as the feature attraction when the card of bouts is put on at the armory Friday evening, March 23. It will probably measure up to a top notch scrap. Frankie Konchina, the National Guard hero artist, must put himself back on the favorable list after losing to Italian Joe Gans last Friday. Oscar Pultz, a strapper who has stepped with the cream of New York's pugilists, plans to put up one of the hardest scraps of his career.

The boys will do a six rounder and every stanza of the scuffle is expected to be a thrill producer. Konchina must win over Pultz in order to hold his prestige as one of the outstanding scrappers of the National Guard for he lost a twelve round battle to Italian Joe Gans at the 105th Army, Brooklyn, last Friday. Gans did his best to put his opponent on the canvas but Konchina was too strong for the hard hitting Italian. Only after a fierce battle did Gans win. Konchina will want another crack at Gans but in order to be classed as a worthy opponent he will probably have to meet a number of contenders like Pultz. The latter will do his best to stay Konchina's chances when they meet Friday for a win over the man with the deadly punch might mean a whole lot toward making Pultz an opponent for a big scrap in the Metropolis.

Tickets for the bouts are being rapidly sold. They may be procured at Murphy's news store on the Strand, at the armory and at Leotta's barber shop on Railroad avenue.

BADE RUTH PREDICTS YANKEES AND CARDINALS

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 20 (AP).—Sizing up the contenders for the approaching big league campaign, Babe Ruth forecasts the Yankees and Cardinals in the world series next October.

Ruth figures Connie Mack's Athletics, with Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker in the lineup, to finish in second place in the American League. He has the Pirates slated for second place in the National and the Giants third.

Here's the way the Babe predicts the finish will be:

American League—Yanks, Athletics, Senators, Tigers, Indians, White Sox, Red Sox and Browns.

National League—Cards, Pirates, Giants, Cubs, Reds, Braves, Robins and Phillies.

OBER WILL BE REPLACED BY FORMER AMATEUR RIDER

London, March 20 (AP).—Albert Ober, who has ridden Billy Barton successfully for two years in the United States, will be replaced in the Grand National on March 30, the horse's trainer, Aubrey Hastings, announced today.

T. B. Cullinan, a former Irish amateur rider, will have the mount on the entrant of Howard Bruce of Baltimore.

Ober was disappointed over the poor showing of the horse last Thursday in the Liverpool Grand National, when he was an "also ran," and suggested that he be replaced.

Just a Plain Senator

Pole Vaulting Star

The photograph shows Sabin Carr, former Hill school pole vaulting star, and now Yale athlete, who made a last-minute decision to take part in the National A. A. championships to be held in Madison Square garden, where he made a new record of 14 feet 11 inch.

Sporting Squibs

In the season of 1914 the Austin club of the Texas league lost 30 consecutive games.

The new chess champion says he's in love with the game. Maybe he eloped with his opponent's queen.

Robert Huruh, one of Massachusetts' best, at one time high school athlete, has enrolled at the University of Iowa.

It's time for the barber shop harmony in the training camps. Not so many, it appears, can play second base as can sing it.

Elmer Holt, linesman, and Blue Howell, halfback, will be the football captains of the 1928 University of Nebraska football team.

Dick Atterau, first baseman of the Philadelphia Athletics, has been released to the Harrisburg club of the New York-Pennsylvania league.

Bert Olds, former swimming instructor of New Zealand for many years, was recently appointed coach of the new San Diego (Calif.) Athletic club.

With the exception of Kolehmainen's victory at Antwerp, the winners in almost every Olympic marathon have been runners who were not conceded much of a chance.

Jeff Dickson, American boxing promoter, who has been staging bouts in Paris, is expected to invade London this summer. Dickson plans a number of international battles.

College Sports "Upheaval"

COLLEGE athletics must wait about a year for the "upheaval" in their midst predicted recently by George Huff, director of athletics at the University of Illinois. The study of college athletics in the United States and Canada which is being carried on by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching and which Mr. Huff said would produce this somewhat startling result, will not be available for about one year.

Began in January, 1926, the inquiry is making good progress, says Dr. Howard J. Savage, staff member in general charge of the work, but it cannot be complete and ready for announcement before November, 1928, at the earliest.

"About 110 institutions have been visited by field representatives. Including six Canadian universities and six Catholic colleges," Doctor Savage said. "In addition a number of studies concerning special phases of college athletics are receiving attention."

"It is hoped that the final report of the foundation on American athletics will treat of most or all of the following topics: Administration, including organization and control, actual and theoretical; schedules; finance, including the use of budgets and reports; the relation of faculties, alumni and undergraduates to sport. The athletic relations of schools to universities and colleges; eligibility; the work of conferences; intercollegiate rivalry; intramural or mass athletics; emphasis on athletics and other extra-curricular activities; athletics and academic standing; training regimen; inherited characteristics of athletics; the literature of athletics; athletics and education in general."

"The foundation is not engaged in an attempt to muckrake college athletics. The purpose of the inquiry is to ascertain and state the facts and then to suggest ways in which college athletics may be strengthened and improved."

Chet Fox Leads Scorers

Redeemer Player Leads Point Getters Followed by Van Etten of Port Ewen and Krum of Congregational—No Senior Games Wednesday.

Chet Fox, of the Redeemer team, which now leads the Senior Sunday School Basketball League, is highest of the ten leading scorers with 187 points. Van Etten, of the Port Ewen team, trails Fox by but one point while third place is occupied by Hank Krum of the Ponckhockie Congregational with 176 points. Both Fox and Krum, with Niles of the Presbyterians, who is among the ten leading scorers, have gone to Cincinnati as representatives of the local Y. M. C. A., where they will play with the Chlanders in the national "Y" tournaments.

There will be no Senior Sunday School League basketball games at the "Y" this week but the brace of games scheduled for Wednesday will be played on March 28.

Expect to Seat 80,000 at Army-Nebraska Tilt

With the army definitely slated to oppose the Nebraska Cornhuskers on the gridiron next fall, speculation of eastern football fans has turned to West Point's move in playing at home instead of at the Yankee stadium in New York.

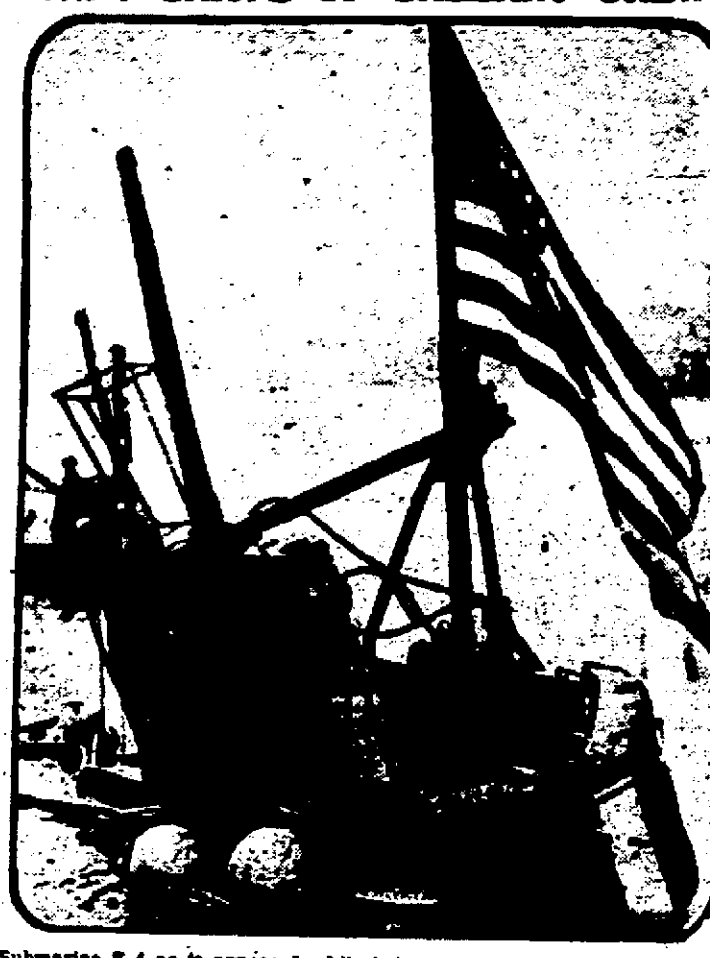

At West Point, accommodations would care for about 25,000 persons at the most in contrast with a possible attendance of 80,000 patrons should the contest be staged in New York.

The Cadets have three big contests away from home, Yale at New Haven, Harvard at Cambridge and the Notre Dame struggle at New York. Many of the officials at West Point believe that a great portion of the football campaign should be spent on the home field.

However, it is understood that Army's decision to play Nebraska at West Point is not final and that in the event there is a big demand to hold the contest on a larger gridiron, the matter will be given further consideration.

Other big games down for next November 24 are the Yale-Harvard classic and the Princeton-Navy battle, the latter to be staged at Franklin field, Philadelphia.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 20 (AP).—Speculation for the advance broke out again in today's stock market when the general list swung upward under the leadership of Radio and General Motors. Radio soared 1 1/2 points to 127 1/2 against a low of 125 yesterday and General Motors moved up 1 point to a new peak at 117. Scores of others advanced 1 to 1 1/2 points, with the short interest again in urgent retreat. Total sales crossed the 2,000,000 mark before the end of the third hour.

There was nothing in the day's movement to explain the fresh outburst of speculative enthusiasm. There has been no market change for the better in the course of the spring trading, but apparently there is a huge March buying effort in some of the season dividend-paying stocks. A new crop of rumors sprang up to account for the sensational advances in a few issues, but most of them lacked official confirmation.

The St. East Iron Pipe, which is expected to announce a recapitalization plan which may involve a 10 for 1 stock split next month, added 15 points to its 24 1/2 point gain of yesterday. Collins and Alkman climbed 7 points, Houston Oil and Russia Insurance six each, and Victor Talking Machine, American Linseed, Kelsey Wheel, Wright Aeronautical, American Locomotive, Greene Cananea Copper, Midland Steel Products preferred and case Threshing were among the many issues to sell 3 or more points above yesterday's final quotations.

Quotations given by Parker, McElroy & Co., members N. Y. Stock Exchange, 120 Broadway, New York city, branch office, 260 Fair street.

The following letter from a High Falls parent, who realizes the good contained in the nutrition program, will give parents a thorough knowledge of what is being accomplished in the schools:
High Falls, N. Y. February 27, 1928.
My dear Miss Hilton:
I know you will be interested in hearing about our work with the underweight children in our school. Good mail is served every noon to those who are underweight, and to anyone else who wishes it. It is three cents a glass. The work entails very little extra labor on the part of the teachers since the children vie with each other in helping.
At about 11:45 one of the older boys lights the oil stove and places on it two large pans filled with water. After disrobing the boys and girls who remain at school for lunch form in two lines and take turns in going to the basin to wash their hands. Each day four children are appointed to hold and fill the hand basin and to give out the paper towels.
The teachers have ready a list of the names of those desiring the malt. This list is prepared in the morning by an older boy who keeps a record of all money received. The teachers exercising great care in use of all utensils prepare the malt for the children.
During the noon hour all children are seated in one room under our supervision. We note that there is no undue haste now when eating. All appear to enjoy this social hour. A pleasant spirit pervades the room.
When all have finished lunch the dish washers take their places. The children with their soiled glasses form a line and as soon as their glasses are washed and rinsed they may go to play.
Beginning operations at a few minutes after 12, all work is completed by 12:30.
The parents for the most part are in hearty sympathy with our work. The P. T. A. is furnishing graham crackers for all boys and girls. These two with an apple or a banana eaten at the morning recess when the underweight children are required to rest for at least fifteen minutes with windows open.
At our last P. T. A. meeting one father asked me to explain exactly what the weighing and measuring are for. After I had told him he said, "The work is the finest thing that has ever been done in this school. My boy could not be bribed or coaxed to eat his cereal. Now he passes his dish for a second helping. He says he wants a white card when Miss Hilton comes in March."
Mrs. Jansen whose little boy, aged five, is in school says, "It has made the greatest difference in Kelton's willingness to take milk and other foods to bring up his weight. My boys have given up coffee for at least a month. They are anxious to be weighed at the end of that time. Let us hope they have gained."
Another father is so pleased that his three girls can have the milk and malt he pays two weeks in advance. I might say here that we use only the best Jersey milk.
This letter is rather disjointed but I do want you to know what we are doing.
With all good wishes for your success, I am,
Cordially yours,
EMMA D. BROWN.

Rebels Fire on Marine Planes

Managua, Nicaragua, March 20 (AP).—Stiff resistance by rebels against two American marine planes today indicated that followers of General Augusto Sandino are losing their fear of aerial attack and becoming bolder. Previously the Sandino forces "scattered to cover when they heard an airplane motor, now they are attempting to bring them down with rifle and machine gun fire.
Captain Francis E. Pierce, an observer in one of the planes, was hit in the foot during a sharp fight with rebels at an abandoned mine in the vicinity of Murra, 29 miles southeast of Jalapa. It was estimated that from fifty to 200 insurgents attacked the planes. The fliers dropped bombs and used machine guns on the men on the ground. Marine headquarters would not hazard a guess as to how effective this was.
After Captain Pierce was struck, the planes returned to Ocotol. Several other planes were sent to the scene. With the assistance of a number of patrols they tried to cut off the rebels from escaping to the northward. It was not known whether they made contact with the rebels.

News of the Day In Wall Street

New York, March 20 (AP).—Adjournment of the annual meeting of Jordan Motor Company until May 21 was to give directors more time to formulate certain plans for presentation to stockholders, says Edward S. Jordan.

Flat steel rollers in the Youngstown district, including Trumbull Steel, Sharon Steel Hoop, Newton Steel and Youngstown Sheet and Tube, are operating at capacity, with pressure for deliveries coming from the automobile trade. Heavy tonnages of automobile steels also are being supplied by the McDonald Works of Carnegie Steel.

Kentucky Utilities Company earned $9.57 a share on the common stock in 1927 against $8.66 a share in 1926 on a smaller amount of stock outstanding.

The trend of business in machinery and machine tools again is upward, with many indications that the first half of 1928 will see a record volume of business. American Machinist reports. A feature in the situation is the increased buying interest by railroads, although automotive activity continues to furnish a large part of the business.

TELLS WHERE FARMERS BUY THEIR SUPPLIES

Rural Families Patronize Villages and Small Cities Most.
Ithaca, N. Y., March 20.—Farmers in New York state and their families buy most of their groceries and supplies and ordinary articles of clothing in small villages near their homes, but they go to the cities for their furniture and furnishings, and especially to the larger cities for items of clothing about which they are likely to be most particular, according to Helen Canon, of the New York state college of home economics who obtained information from 225 farm families concerning the places and ways in which they buy household commodities. In this list she included seventy items from silk dresses to fresh fish and from navy beans to sewing machines. Groceries, soap, kerosene and rubber boots are bought principally in villages with less than 2,000 population, although many families buy these articles in larger villages and small cities up to 5,000 population. For all other commodities, villages and small cities between 2,000 and 5,000 inhabitants are patronized more than smaller villages, but large cities from 10,000 to 600,000 population get most of the trade for hats, coats, dresses and suits for all members of the family; underwear for the women, girls and younger children; shoes for women; stockings for the girls and younger children; dress goods, table cloths, baby carriages and sewing machines. Seventy per cent of the families that replied to Miss Canon's questionnaire reported that they buy at least one commodity by mail order. The mail order house is customarily patronized by one-third of the families for underwear for women, for older girls and boys, and for children between 2 and 6 years; for sheets, blankets and table cloths; and for sewing machines. Groceries are not bought by mail by these 225 families. Some of the other articles that are seldom ordered from mail-order houses are women's hats, men's hats, and boys' hats. Men's overcoats, suits, shoes, rubbers, rubber boots, dining tables, refrigerators, bedsteads, dresses and heating stoves. In short, Miss Canon says, articles that change rapidly in style, those that must be fitted, and articles that are especially bulky are usually bought near home. Women's hats are bought by mail order by sixteen per cent of the families while men's hats are bought this way by only seven per cent. More families buy women's shoes by mail than men's shoes.
